OUR LATEST EVIDENCE

From Fields to Frontlines

In 2026 NRWP surveyed 124 smallholder farmers, 115 of them women, in six counties of Liberia. They told us climate change is already in their fields.

93%
say their food security has worsened

87%
have lost livelihoods

71 of 73
women asked had never heard of carbon markets

What we call for

1. Climate action and finance that reach women farmers
2. Secure land and forest rights for women
3. Protection for women defenders
4. Women's voice in every climate and land decision
5. Alternative livelihoods that do not cost the forest
6. The Belém Gender Action Plan put into practice

Work with us

- Partner on research, training and livelihoods
- Fund women's groups directly
- Invite our women to speak
- Share our evidence

Read the report
Scan to download

> "Climate solutions that do not center women will fail."
> NRWP, From Fields to Frontlines (2026)

Office Corner of Benson & McDonald Streets, P.O. Box 5643, Monrovia, Liberia
Phone +231 777 006 089 · +231 888 312 250
Email nrwomenplatform@gmail.com · nrwomenplatform.org
Social Facebook & YouTube: Natural Resource Women Platform · X: @nrwplatform2010

Natural Resource Women Platform

Amplifying Women Voices in Liberia

ABOUT NRWP

Women defending land, forests and climate
Liberia · Since 2010

WHO WE ARE

A women-led grassroots movement

The Natural Resource Women Platform (NRWP) is a registered, non-profit, women-led grassroots movement-building platform, established in 2010 by women who depend on land and natural resources, formally launched in 2012 and incorporated in 2014. We build an organized movement of grassroots women leaders, women human rights defenders, rural women farmers and concession-affected communities advancing land rights, climate justice and sustainable livelihoods across Liberia.

Our mission

To build and strengthen women-led grassroots movements that defend land rights, protect natural resources, advance climate and environmental justice, and challenge systems of inequality.

Our vision

A platform that enables natural resource-dependent women in Liberia to express their own ideas and concerns, and to develop a common plan to address the challenges they face.

What we do

Knowledge building: evidence and community knowledge to inform advocacy and policy

Movement building: grassroots women's leadership and collective action, from village to global

Capacity building: skills, confidence and leadership of women and communities

Livelihoods and resilience: sustainable livelihoods and economic independence

Climate justice and just transition: environmental governance, land rights and accountability

How we are organized

Women's Assembly · highest decision-making body

Secretariat · day-to-day work

County, district and clan caucuses · women represented from every town and forest community

WHAT WE HAVE ACHIEVED

Results that women built

1st Community seed bank
Sackie Town, Bomi County (2025), built on the knowledge of nine communities.

5 Communal farming groups
Women-led farms in Grand Bassa County.

3 Cassava mills in Sinoe
Serving four communities where concessions threaten farmland.

11 Savings groups in 11 counties
Access to finance and economic security for women.

60 Women defenders supported
Legal empowerment, protection and peer support.

210 Right to Say No
Community members trained on their land rights.

Meet our leaders

Lue Nyemah
Chairlady

Yongor Darwolo
Co-Chairlady

Aderlyn Bernard
Secretary

Massa P. Turay
Treasurer

Meet our staff

Radiatu H. S. Kahnplaye
Lead Coordinator / Policy Advisor

Veronica B. Gray
Head of Secretariat

Mercy A. Jlanyeneh
Program Assistant

Alfred B. Kiawu
Finance Officer

Our networks: member of ESCR-Net, the WoMin African Alliance, FEMNET, the Coalition for Human Rights in Development and the African Women's Climate Assembly, where we sit on the Steering Committee.

